Rev. K. C. McLeod Delivered Impressive Sermons at Sunday Services

Lectured on Monday Evening

Rev. K. C. McLeod of Edmonton, Superintendent of Neglected and Dependent Children, for the Province of Alberta, jointly conducted with Rev. C. H. Corcoran, services at the United Church last Sunday morning and evening. At the morning service Rev. McLeod delivered an inspiring sermon on the "Value of Vision," the theme of which was adopted from the life of Joseph from the time he was sold into bondage by his brothers. In the evening he delivered another inspiring message on "Two Great Men," Samson and David.

Vocal numbers were pleasingly rendered by Mr. Robert Nisbet, who sang "Morning Noon and Night" at the morning service and "Open the Gates of the Temple" at the evening service.

An invitation was extended to all returned men to go over to the parsonage after the evening service and meet Rev. McLeod, who served overseas, and saw much active service.

On Monday evening Rev. McLeod delivered a lecture on "What Government Should Do For Their Children". In this lecture, he outlined what the government was doing to day and what could be done in the future.

Those who were privileged to hear his address, could not but feel that our province is fortunate in having at the head of so important a department, a man with such a great understanding heart, whose heart and soul is in his noble work.

The Sales Tax

Stoicism for the various organizations throughout the country which are advocating reduction in taxation, including abolition of the Income Tax, are stressing, not so much the need of reducing the burden borne by the individual taxpayer, but the necessity of encouraging investment in productive enterprises and in national works of development. Their main argument is that the Income Tax retards enterprise, drives people out of the country because of the taxes imposed on them, and discourages investment in industrial and development works, leading people rather to invest in non-productive bonds and securities.

If this is the chief end to be achieved through a further reduction in taxation, and if the all-important consideration is the stimulation of business and consequent greater employment of labor throughout Canada, then the Income Tax is not the only one which should be carefully examined to ascertain its effect on business and economic conditions. The Sales Tax, which represents five per cent Government levy on business should be acquired into as well.

The Income Tax is one which the wage earner, the man on a salary, the farmer, the manufacturer, and the business man pay. It is levied on the interest from investments, cannot pass on to anyone else. They must pay to the Government on their personal incomes, and pay proportionately large or small amounts dependent upon the size of their income. In this respect the Income Tax is not the only one which should be carefully examined to ascertain its effect on business and economic conditions. The Sales Tax, which represents five per cent Government levy on business should be acquired into as well.

The Sales Tax, on the other hand, is, in the final analysis, paid by the ultimate consumer, and the manufacturer, the landlord, the investor in bonds, mortgages and other securities, only pays to the extent that he is a consumer, and despite great wealth and large income it is only possible for a man to eat so much, or wear so many clothes, just as the average wage earner or man on a salary. His clothing and food and furniture may cost more, but the extent of his purchases is regulated by his income.

The manufacturer of a given article fixes its selling price. To that adds five per cent Sales Tax which he is obliged to remit to the Government. But he collects this tax money back again from the jobber, wholesaler, the merchant to whom he sells his product. The manufacturer does not pay the Sales Tax himself. In like manner the jobber, wholesaler and merchant passes it on to the ultimate consumer, all as part of the cost of the article. The consumer, therefore, pays the tax to the Government, the others being middlemen in the process of collection.

This Sales Tax, therefore, operates directly to enhance prices in Canada and, consequently, to decrease the purchasing power of the whole people. It likewise imposes additional expense upon all business concerns in the matter of bookkeeping, collection, remittance, and interest paid on outstanding monies.

It is a self-evident proposition that the removal of the Sales Tax would result in saving to every person in the Dominion because all are consumers, whereas the removal of the tax on incomes would only benefit a comparatively small proportion of the population, and that portion which is best able to pay.

The removal of the Sales Tax, and the consequent lowering of prices which would automatically follow, would increase the purchasing power of people, leading to larger sales, and necessarily increased production and more employment.

In a word, the effect of the removal of the Sales Tax would be just what the advocates of Income Tax abolition desire, namely, an added impetus to business, to production, to employment which would keep people in Canada, and to the whole all-round development of the Dominion, including the bringing of its wealth of natural resources into use.

On the other hand, if the Income Tax is abolished, and the Sales Tax retained, it will result in lowering the taxation imposed on accumulated and invested wealth without in the slightest degree benefiting the wage earner and man on a small salary. A large body of our population live on incomes and below taxable amounts, but these people will all still contribute heavily through the Sales Tax, which would continue as a drag on business expansion and national development.

If the financial requirements of the Dominion Treasury can stand to reduce the Income Tax by all means, and, as proposed in a previous article in this column, provide for continued gradual reductions over a period of years. But if one tax is to be abolished outright and the other retained, the removal of the Sales Tax would appear to confer the greater benefit, not only on business enterprise and works of development, but on the people of Canada as a whole.

Toronto Club Decides to Make Canadian Literature Their Hobby

Encouraging to Canadian writers will be the decision of the literature section of Toronto University Women's Press Club. The members at a recent meeting decided to make Canadian literature their hobby and to get into personal touch with Canadian writers wherever possible, and to further the cause of Canadian literature by reading and advertising. A committee was asked to devise methods by which the section could co-operate with other bodies in advertising Canadian works.

The Strength Of Radium

Floor Alive With Emanations As Repeated Washings When Emulsified Quantity Was Spilled

Once in a laboratory a tiny tube containing less than two thousandths of an ounce of radium was accidentally dropped on a hardwood floor and broken. With a common hot brush then swept up the radium. Then they washed the floor with ordinary water to get the rest of it. This caused no harm to render necessary another washing, this time with acidulated water, and still another, with soda water, and a fourth time, with hydrogen water. Each washing yielded about £100 worth of radium, and still the floor was alive with radium emanations, and no accurate scientific measurements could be made in that room. Finally a carpenter came and scraped the floor. Three years later the shavings were burned, and the ashes were found to be strong in radium emanations.

The value of these pills in conditions described above is shown by the statement of Mrs. M. O'Brien, Pemberton, Ont., who says: "In Nov., 1923, I was taken with pneumonia, and at the time but little hope was held out for my recovery. However, with the best of care I was able to walk about after some months, but I was not strong. My doctor told me my appetite was poor, I grew nervous and restless, and my sleep was greatly disturbed. I was given up for ever being strong again. However, I was given that in my childhood I had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I decided to try them again. By the time I had used two boxes I was as strong as ever. I was helping me. Continuing the use of these pills, I continued taking the pills, by which time I was enjoying better health than at any time in the previous ten years. In fact, I feel what the pills have done for me. I give this statement to the hope that it may point the way to health to some other weak, dependent woman."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medical Co., Brockville, Ont.

Claims New Method Of Making Steel

Germany Has Produced Metal Without Impurities and Defects

Discovery is claimed of a new steel-making process which yields a harder and at the same time more elastic metal than any made by existing methods.

The discovery, made in the laboratories of the German Dywida Trust, is said to have resulted in the production of steel of the finest quality with none of the impurities and defects now unavoidable in the smelting process.

It is said the steel thus produced is cheaper to manufacture, and it is hoped that the new invention will place the German industry in a dominant position in the international market.

Four Vacancies in Senate

Deaths Occur of Two Senators in Ontario and Quebec

Two senatorial vacancies occurred recently through the deaths of Senator George McNeill Lindsay, and Senator Richard Hall, Brampton. Both senators were representatives of Ontario in the Upper Chamber. The late Senator McNeill was a Liberal, while Senator Hall was a Conservative.

Four vacancies now exist in the red chamber. The other two are for the province of Quebec, brought about by the death this year of Senators H. L. David and Alfred Thibodeau.

Winter Egg Production

Enquiries have been received at the Dominion Experimental Station at Scott, regarding the use of special egg foods and tablets to make hens lay in winter. Some very extravagant claims are made for some of these preparations with no stipulations as to breeding, housing or feeding.

Pullets should be hatched in April or early May if winter eggs are to be plentiful. The breed should be one having recognized laying qualities and a strain of this breed which has been selected for egg production.

A very easy method of improving the average flock would be to use only the best cockerels, which should of course be changed every year and in addition to this the flock should be culled frequently by an expert.

Methods of winter feeding pallets which have given good results at the Dominion Experimental Station at Scott are as follows:

DRY MASH, kept before the birds in a self-feeder. Equal parts by weight of shorts, bran, barley chop, beef scrap and hullless oat chop or common oat chop sifted. To each 100 pounds of the mixture a quart of a pound of salt and two and one-half pounds of pulverized charcoal is added. When milk is available beef scrap is omitted.

Curlers Start Season on Good Ice

The curling season officially opened on Monday night, when games in the President vs. Vice-president series were played, the following rinks taking part:

Pres.	Vice-Pres.
S. A. Miller 12	Dial 13
Gibson 6	Morrison 14
Barbour 10	Whitlock 7
Lees 23	Thygeson 5

At the conclusion of Monday's games, the president's side was leading by 22 shots. The series was concluded last night when the following games were played off:

Pres.	Vice-Pres.
Stewart 9	Dunford 11
Peterson 9	Tewin 11
"Excel" 8	W. V. Miller 8

The president's side won by 18 shots. Games in the square draw commence to-night.

SCRATCH GRAIN, four parts wheat or wheat screenings to one part oats and one part barley. About 16 pounds of scratch grain per 100 birds is fed in the litter in the evening some of which is usually left in the litter to be picked up next day.

GREEN FEED, a mangal or cabbage may be hung on the wall during moderate weather, but should not be used when it freezes in the house. During cold weather sprouted oats are fed in the morning at the rate of 8 to 10 pounds per 100 birds.

WET MASH, during extremely cold weather some of the dry mash is mixed with just sufficient warm water to moisten and this is fed warm in a trough at noon but only a quantity which will be cleaned up in about five minutes.

HOUSING, four square feet of floor space per bird is allowed. Glass and cotton are used in the front of the house to provide sunshine and ventilation, in addition to this straw is placed above a slatted ceiling to absorb the moisture arising from the birds but draughts through the house are carefully avoided.

A common mistake in winter housing is to close the house tightly to keep the birds from getting too cold and in so doing proper ventilation is impaired, the air in the house becomes moist and colds and rump are the natural result.
